About this online Learning Community event:

Sara Kennedy shares resources and insight to help parents and professionals keep our children safe. We'll talk about personal safety, the greater vulnerability of our Deaf/HH children, and some actionable ideas you can use right away with your kids or the families you work with to increase safety. Join the discussion! Suitable for all ages.

About the speaker:

Sara is a mom of four children, including a daughter who was late-identified following a homebirth. Sara is an occupational therapist by training and began working with Hands & Voices in 2001 - a leading nonprofit supporting families raising Deaf/HH children and impacting the medical and educational systems that serve these families. She was a lead author of the Parent Safety Toolkit for the O.U.R. Children's Safety Project, a co-creator for the Virtual Waiting Room, coauthor for the manual Bridge to Preschool: Navigating a Successful Transition, coordinates the Colorado Resource Guide, has written or presented on navigating the IEP/IFSP system, Eight Reasons to Say Yes to EI, safety from abuse and neglect, giftedness, itinerant and interpreting services, why families move, the decision process regarding cochlear implants and transition from high school. She also serves as the CO-Chair of the Colorado Infant Hearing Advisory Committee. Contact her at Sara@handsandvoices.org.
